

Newsletter 10/19

You might have heard that our house and workshop burned down on the 2nd July 2019. While we wouldn't wish this upon anyone, we have learned and grow extensively from the experience.

Currently, we are living in our own product - the first build MINI HOUSE - as a family of three. And I have to admit, it is so much better than I would have thought - no kidding!

There are some tiny details that we would change for permanent living compared to just using the MINI HOUSE for holiday accommodation, but living in such a small - but well thought through – space, is absolutely liberating!

I'm not even sure if I ever want to live in a big house again. Just thinking of all the cleaning that comes with a big house... so I do see us very lucky for the circumstances!

We are back

Production started again

It took us a while to recover from the fact that our house and workshop burned down to the ground! It's been more or less 3 months – the exact time frame to build and deliver a MINI HOUSE 😊 Now we are very motivated and excited about the changes happening.

Roland is getting ready with a bigger and better workshop for MINI HOUSE productions: the foundation of our old house will become the foundation of the new workshop. Our aim is to have it ready to go at the beginning of January.

Our first project after the fire is the rebuilding of the "iMed clinic", here in the beginning stages. This is an open-air production and thereafter the workshop roof will go up.

The shipment of 46m<sup>3</sup> Spruce beams by HWZi (www.hwz.co.za) arrived for the rebuild of the workshop. This is also stock for future MINI HOUSES which are set to go into production beginning 2020.

How does a MINI HOUSE add value to your life?

The options for its use are very versatile:

- Create an income opportunity via AirBnB;
- Simplify your life by downsizing;
- Create a private space for family & guests;
- Enjoy space for creative projects;
- Increase the value of your property;
- Create a private and comfortable home office environment;
- Many other options!

If you are thinking that the MINI HOUSE is the right choice for you, give us a call, drop us an e-mail, or arrange an appointment with us for a viewing.

We look forward to hearing from you!

Kind regards,
Roland & Nina
